OSCAR H. BENSON DIES; WAS YOUTH ORGANIZER AND HEAD OF LIBRARY

Oscar H. Benson, 76, Gettysburg R. 5, died this morning at 12:25 o'clock at the Warner hospital.

Former national head and founder of the 4-H movement in the U. S., former national director of the Rural Boy Scout movement, former head of the national Junior Achievement clubs, he was best known in Adams county as one of the founders and first president of the Adams County Free Library.

He had been working Monday in his garden at his home along the Lincoln highway east of here, where he moved seven years ago, and had attended the session of the local Rotary club Monday evening. Taken ill early Tuesday, he was removed to the hospital where it was found he suffered a heart attack.

Worked With Youth

He became active in youth work while county superintendent in Wright county, Iowa. Discovering that most of the youngsters were planning to leave the farm, he decided to revise the educational system in Wright county to correlate class work with life on the farm and in the home and to require all students to take either agricultural or homemaking classes. In connection with the home project work he set up clubs over the county similar to the 4-H clubs which he later developed.

National interest was attracted by the program he was carrying out in Wright county and he was employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to make 4-H club work a national movement.

His first club of the type he later developed in the 4-H movement was established in Woolstock, Iowa, in 1899. He was national director of 4-H clubs and food conservation from 1910 to 1920.

Teacher At 17

In 1911 he and Dr. Seaman A. Kapp were sent by the government to the southern states to seek methods of boll weevil control. Mr. Benson established 4-H clubs in the south to help in the project, to help bring a change from the one-crop system in the south and help in fighting the boll weevil through the children of the southern farmers.

Born on a farm at Delhi, Iowa, in 1875, he grew up on a farm and at the age of 17 years started teaching school, beginning a 17-year career as teacher and superintendent. After two years as teacher of rural schools, he was for eight years principal and superintendent of rural and town schools in the midwest. After five years as superintendent of the schools of Wright county, Iowa, he taught agriculture and rural sociology in a midwest college for a year.

Scouting work that eventually led to the post of director of rural scouting in the United States, from 1926 to 1941, began 40 years ago, as a merit badge counselor and court of honor chairman with a Washington, D. C., troop in 1911. Later he was a scoutmaster and in 1924 wrote agricultural merit badge subjects for the scout handbook which he helped revise for rural needs. He was a scout council executive in Springfield, Mass., and for a number of years was a member of the York-Adams area executive council. He was chairman of the rural scouting committee for the Black Walnut district.

Was Author, Too

All told he spent 17 years in public school work, ten years in 4-H club work, five years in Junior Achievement and 17 years in Boy Scout work prior to his retirement in 1941. In 1939 he told of his experiences on a nation-wide broadcast of Edgar Guest.

As an author he compiled three textbooks in agriculture and an 840-page volume on "Agriculture and the Farming Business." His most recent book was "Weaving Crafts" which he co-authored with Mrs. Milo Gallinger.

He also was the author of bulletins and books on 4-H club work, home canning, leadership and home food conservation. During World War I, to help cut the number of cases of food poisoning in the U. S., he developed the cold pack method of canning and secured its national adoption through programs of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He developed the program while national chairman of the food production and conservation of the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

In World War II he served as salvage chairman for Adams county for two years. He was chairman of the farm ownership and PSA committee for Adams county for five years and during the last war was on the county War Board and served

Approve Bills To Extend Turnpike

Two bills authorizing extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike were approved Tuesday by the Senate Highways committee.

One measure would extend the Commonwealth's toll road southward from a point west of the Susquehanna river to the Maryland border to connect with any superhighway Maryland might construct between the state line and the District of Columbia. Senator McPherson, of Gettysburg, co-sponsored the bill.

The other bill would permit the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to build still another extension from a point east of the Susquehanna river, northward through the anthracite coal regions around Scranton to a point on or near the New York state border.

Another bill authorizing construction of a turnpike extension across northern Pennsylvania was passed finally by the General Assembly.

The Senate measure, approved unanimously by the House, now goes to Gov. John S. Fine for action.

APPROVE PLANS FOR REMODELING CROSS KEYS INN

Tentative architect's plans for conversion of the former Cross Keys hotel, near New Oxford, into a home for aged persons of the Southern district of the Church of the Brethren were adopted Tuesday night and will be submitted to the state for approval.

The plans were presented by the architect, Alfred Bohn, Hagerstown, during a session of the church trustees and building committee at the former hotel site.

The 18-acre tract and building were purchased from Frank B. Snyder, Harrisburg, on May 29, for $60,500. Possession was given at the end of June.

To Increase Rooms

Rev. E. E. Baugher, treasurer, said the remodeling plans call for conversion of the present 14-guest-room building into a 42-45-room home for aged persons.

The remodeled structure will provide accommodations for approximately 60 guests, he said. It will replace the former home at Hunsdale, which was destroyed by fire in December.

Rev. Baugher said all precautions have been taken in the remodeling plans to make the building fireproof. Work is expected to begin as soon as state approval of the plans is received. When the building was purchased, an additional $40,000 was authorized for remodeling.

News Collected At Random

Why does an editor use the word "We" in writing an editorial?

The Iowa Publisher recently reprinted the following explanation for the "editorial we" which was published in the Williams-town Advocate over 100 years ago:

"A Country Editor—is one who reads newspapers, selects miscellany, writes articles on all subjects, sets type, reads proof, folds papers, and sometimes carries them, prints jobs, runs errands, cuts wood, works in the garden, talks to all his patrons who call, patiently receives blame for a thousand things that never were and never can be done, gets little money, has scarce time and materials to satisfy his hunger, or to enjoy the quiet of nature's sweet restorer, sleep, and esteems himself peculiarly happy if he is not assaulted and battered by some unprincipled demagogue who loves puppet shows and hires the rabble with a treat of cider brandy to vote him into some petty office. A man who does all this and much more, not here recorded, you will know must be a rather busy animal; and as he performs the work of so many different persons, he may justly be supposed their representative, and to have an indisputable right, when speaking of himself, to use the plural number, and to say we on all occasions and in all places."

The world is moving so fast

these days that the man who says it can't be done is generally interrupted by someone doing it. . . . First Russian: "What did the three Russians say when they arose from the dinner table?" Both delegations appeared more cheerful than usual when they left the meeting place, a pool dispatch from Kaesong said. And Communist newsmen on the scene hinted the Reds might be willing to discuss a demarcation line based on the present battle front, as the Allies demand.

M. E. KNOUSE IS
by W. W. Hunt, National Fruit Product Co., Inc., Winchester, Va., and Mr. Knouse. He estimated that processors would take about 40,000-600 bushels of apples from this year's crop.

Other Speakers
Millard Bennett, sales management consultant of Business Economists, Inc., spoke on how the produce industry could better manage their businesses in these unsettled days in the economic and political world.

The main theme of the convention was the growth and production of apples followed by ways and means of disposing of this year's crop. Most of the talks stressed sales and promotion.

Carl W. Haacker, display manager of RCA Victor, Camden, N. J., also spoke.

R. G. Partridge, of the United Fruit Co., showed through the use of slides and charts the growth of banana promotion and sales and how this technique could be applied to apples. A new set of apple recipes was given away by Miss Ina Lindman of the home economics department of the United Fruit Co.

Following the report of the various committees, St. Louis was chosen as the 1952 convention city.

33 Accused Cadets Are Civilians Today
West Point, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Thirty-three of the 90 accused military academy cadets are civilians today, most of them slated for early dates with their draft boards unless they gain admittance to other colleges.

Their glum exodus from the academy marked the beginning of the greatest mass expulsion in the 150-year history of the "Point." All 90 are accused of violating the West Point honor code by cheating on examinations.

Col. James B. Leer, academy information officer, said yesterday that "almost all" of the departing 33 had resigned—rather than been waived out of the army under administrative discharges.

The cadets who resigned left under an administrative order, which implies neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge. They received 30-day emergency leaves. When the leaves expire, those not already registered for Selective Service must report to their local draft boards.

LOU BRISSIE IS IMPORTANT COG AS TRIBE WINS

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Lou Brissie is the unheralded cog in the Cleveland Indians' stirring drive for the American league pennant.

Brissie is to the Indians what Joe Page was to the New York Yankees in their successful 1947 and 1949 pennant campaigns. But unlike the former gay reliever of the Bombers, Brissie hasn't drawn the headlines.

Although the "big four" of Bob Feller, Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon have received most of the credit Brissie has contributed handsomely to the 2½ game lead the Indians enjoy over the Yankees today.

Three Scoreless Innings
The 27-year-old left-hander, seriously wounded in Italy during the war, pitched three scoreless innings in relief yesterday to gain credit for the Indians 6-5 ten-inning victory over the Detroit Tigers for their 12th straight win.

The Yanks kept pace by defeating the Washington Senators, 6-3. The third place Boston Red Sox also won, downing the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-4.

In the National league, the New York Giants turned back the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-2, the Boston Braves beat the Philadelphia Phils, 4-2, and the Chicago Cubs edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. The other clubs were idle.

12th Relief Job
Brissie, making his 34th appearance for the Indians, gained his third triumph. However, it marked the 12th time he has successfully bailed out a faltering starter. Brissie now has pitched 19½ consecutive scoreless innings.

The lanky southpaw came to the Indians from the Philadelphia Athletics in a three-cornered deal with Chicago on April 30. The Indians had to give up Orestes Minoso to the White Sox to obtain Brissie. At the time Indian General Manager Hank Greenberg was criticized for making the deal.

Greenberg said, "We didn't want to give up Minoso. He has the chance to become one of the really good ball players of our time. It's the kind of a deal a club makes when it's going all out for the pennant."

Ted Williams In Lead
Minoso has lived up to Greenberg's expectations but the work of Brissie has enabled the Indians to "go all out for the pennant."

The Yanks scored three in the ninth with two out to down the Senators. Relief pitcher Bob Kuzava singled home the first run and Phil Rizzuto's double drove the final two across the plate.

Ted Williams drove home three runs on a pair of homers to lead the Red Sox to victory over the Athletics. The homers enabled Williams to wrest the league lead from the A's Gus Zernial, 25 to 24, and also boosted his RBI output to 100, tops in the majors.

Letterkenny Team Here On Thursday
The Gettysburg team which will be the host nine for the State Amateur Softball tournament here Friday, Saturday and Sunday, will tune-up for the tourney by engaging the Letterkenny team from Chambersburg Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the Recreation park field.

Letterkenny, which is managed by Johnny Ridinger, formerly of Gettysburg, won its league championship and bowed to the Gettysburg Moose in the district tournament at York several weeks ago.

ARMY DEFEATS NAVY; JOIN TO DOWN OLMSTED
For the first time since the inception of the series in 1946 as a part of V-J Day celebration, the Army owns a victory in the annual softball contest between the Army and Navy veterans of the local Softball league.

On Tuesday evening the Army team romped to a 9-1 victory over the Navy behind the steady hurling of Joe Lakich. The Army tabbed one or more runs in all but the sixth inning to win handily, their big inning being the second when four runs were tabbed. Sam Weaver connected for three hits for the winners with Gene Timbers poling a home-run. Bob Saylor secured two of the losers' six hits.

After the veterans tilt the squads combined to face the highly rated Olmsted Air Force team and scored an easy 10-3 victory.

Clarence Dorn and Clarence Bartholomew combined to give the visitors both five hits. The local team sewed up the contest in the first two frames with three runs in the initial inning and four more in the second frame. Bud Knox led the vets' attack with three hits.

Softball Meeting At Moose Home
The Softball league meeting scheduled for this evening at 7 o'clock will be held at the Moose home on York street instead of at the Recreation park, it was decided Tuesday evening.

Final plans for the state tournament here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be made. Members selling $1 tickets for the tournament are asked to bring their money and unsold tickets, sale of which will stop today.

LOUIS TO MEET BIVINS TONIGHT IN BALTIMORE
Baltimore, Aug. 15 (AP)—There was so much interest in Joe Louis and Jimmy Bivins getting weighed this morning you'd think they were going to have a beauty instead of a boxing contest tonight.

What they'll weigh for the 10-round go in Baltimore stadium has become for one reason or another a factor in the prefight speculation.

For one thing, both camps have been extraordinarily shy about telling exact weights.

At Louis camp, they've been worrying a little that the 37-year-old former heavyweight champ might be too light—of all things. It wasn't long ago after the Brown Bomber gave up his crown and started this comeback everybody wondered when he'd stop putting on pounds.

Now they hope Louis will make 210. The best advance report from Marshall Miles, his manager, was that he went "207 or 208," the weight at which he whipped his last opponent, Cesar Brion.

Bivins came here to train last week at only 176 and unless he's put it on fast in the last 24 hours he'll be lucky to push the scales beyond that this morning.

Despite the weight spread, plenty of people hereabouts figure Bivins is going to give Louis a stiff fight. About 15,000 already had bought their tickets last night and the promoters confidently expect nearly twice that many to be present for a $100,000 gate.

Thousands more will see the fight, eighth in Louis comeback try, in 15 theaters in eight cities.

The 31-year-old Bivins has waited 11 years and exactly 100 fights to get in the ring with Louis except for an exhibition.

The betting is 4-1 on Louis.

SPORTS ROUNDUP
By WILL GRIMSLEY
New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Are you fat and fortyish? Getting a paunch? Balding around the temples? Puffing after a flight of stairs?

Don't despair. You're just reaching your athletic peak. Go out and box a few rounds with your neighbor or skip through three fast sets of tennis with the little wife.

This is definitely the "pappy" era in sports.

The heavyweight boxing champion of the world is venerable Jersey Joe Walcott, 37, the oldest man ever to win the title. The chief challenger is Joe Louis, essaying a comeback at 37.

Ben Hogan Is 38
The greatest golfer in the universe is Ben Hogan, still bagging the big ones at 38—ten years older than Bobby Jones was when he completed his grand slam and retired in 1930.

On the amateur side, perhaps the best golf is being played by Richard Davol Chapman, 40, winner of the British amateur this spring.

Cleveland's Bobby Feller, once thought all washed up as a pitcher, has just won his 19th victory, a pace unparalleled in the majors.

Bobby is 32. At 38, big John Mize is still smashing out vital home runs for the New York Yankees.

In tennis, Gardner Mulloy, 37, and Bill Talbert, 32, recently spanked the pants off the fuzzi-faced wonders of the court, Dick Savitt and Tony Trabert.

Babe Going On 40
Henry Dreyer, 40, who competed in the 1936 Olympics, recently set a new American record in the 56-pound weight throw.

Had enough?

Then go over to the distaff side. The perennial "Woman Athlete of the Year" in the Associated Press polls is Babe Didrikson Zaharias, going on 40. She's still tops among linkswomen.

Just this past week 42-year-old Stella Walsh won the National Women's AAU broad jump.

Are our young sprigs just not developing into crack athletes fast enough or are the old codgers just lasting longer?

"They're just lasting longer," explained Bernard MacFadden, the physical education expert who at 83 is spry as a lad of 18. Today is MacFadden's 83rd birthday and he is spending it making plans to bail out over Niagara Falls in a parachute.

The distance that radio waves travel under water depends upon their frequency. Long wave lengths (low frequency signals), go farther in salt water than do short waves (high frequency signals).

GHs WILL OPEN GRID WORKOUTS MONDAY AT 2 P.M.
Gettysburg high school's football candidates will hold their initial practice next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the high school field, it was announced today by Coaches Howard Shoemaker and Ross Sachs.

Approximately 40 candidates underwent the required physical examinations Tuesday which were given by Dr. Raymond Sheely, one of the school physicians. A number of lads were unable to be present due to work and will undergo their physicals later.

The Warrior coaches pointed out today that any youth desiring to tryout for the squad is welcome and should report Monday afternoon. Those undergoing physical examinations this week were previously notified by card.

Will Go To Camp
Drill sessions will be held throughout next week on the high school field. On Monday, August 27, the squad will go to Camp Nawakwa, near Brysonia, where it will remain until the following Friday.

A complete roster of the squad will be announced next week.

A total of 10 lettermen are expected to seek their old berths.

Open September 14
The Warriors open their nine-game schedule on September 14 when Hagerstown, a newcomer, will be met on the local field.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows: September 21, Delone, away; 28, Carlisle, away; October 5, Hanover, home; 12, Waynesboro, away; 19, Shippensburg, home; 26, Chambersburg, away; November 2, Hershey, home; 9, Mechanicsburg, home.

Escapes Police Cordon
Later scores of police in more than a dozen squad cars surrounded a rooming house on the south side when it was discovered Williams had been there at the home of his uncle, William Hawkins, in search of a pair of shoes. It was not known why he was barefooted.

Hawkins said Williams couldn't find any shoes to fit him. Just then a squad car arrived and Williams fled.

"This man is so desperate he never will be taken alive," Warden Scanlan said.

The warden said Raymond Jenko, 20, white, who also was sentenced to die for murder, was seized in Williams cell in the death row. He said Williams and Jenko were together in the escape plot, but that Jenko remained in the cell.

The jail break here was one of two prison disturbances in the nation yesterday.

At Point-Of-The-Mountain, Utah, the third riot in as many months in Utah's new multi-million dollar prison was put down without bloodshed.

Harrisburg, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two bills—one aimed at ending gasoline price wars and one granting workmen's compensation benefits to police and firemen contracting heart and lung ailments—bounced back to the House today for agreement on Senate amendments. Both gained passage in the Senate yesterday but must be reapproved by the House before going to Gov. John S. Fine.

The gas price war bill would prohibit the posting at service stations of any price signs larger than 12 by 10 inches. It passed 44-6.

At Multnomah Kennel club in Portland, Ore., the following three greyhounds won races the same evening: Judy Dee, Cotton Dee and Inky Dee.

Arrangements were made Tuesday evening to have Hunterstown and Granite of the South Penn Baseball league play off their position tie on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock on the Old Mill field at New Oxford.

The teams finished in a tie for second place during their regular season.

Thursday's winner will be host to fourth place Green Springs in the first of the semi-final series for league honors on Sunday while the losers will play at Brushtown. Both series will be the best of three.

Musical Horse Is Pining For Pretty Blonde To Sing To Him
Spokane, Wash., Aug. 15 (AP)—There is a touch of sadness today around the barns at Playfair race-track where in a small stall lives Ernie H, the horse that loves a song.

He is pining for the beautiful blonde who sang to him and went away.

Ernie H is owned by Roy (Bing) Bennett and Clarence Wynia and it was the former who discovered the animal could be charmed by a crooned tune.

The horse has reached the respectable age of 5 years without winning a race and he may have turned to chords for consolation.

At any rate, Bennett sang each morning as he worked around the barns and soon discovered that Ernie H moped if he failed to croon. On the day that Bennett showed up with laryngitis the horse refused to budge from the stall for his regular morning workout.

Ernie H put his ears back, curled his lip in an equine snarl and planted his feet firmly. He was saying in plain horse language, "no chanter, no canter."

Into this impasse like the rescuing cavalry galloped Jack Pyle, the track publicity man who can't carry a tune but has been known to carry a horse two furlongs when he had a bet on his nose.

"I phoned Polly Baker, who's doing a turn at the Spokane club, and she agreed to come down and sing to the horse," reports Pyle.

"That she did. Ernie H pointed his ears forward, trotted happily out of the stall and took his workout. I would like to say he went out there and turned up the track, but he's really not that much horse. Let's say he galloped gaily."

Next day Bennett had his voice again and all should have been back to normal in the Playfair barns. It is—nearly. Ernie H takes his morning workouts without protest, but when Bennett sings he stamps his feet and shakes his head and snorts.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE EVER REACHING SPIRIT

From the earliest days of the human race man has reached for something higher than himself. Go back to Socrates, Plato, Plutarch, and Horace, and you will read of their hunger for something beyond themselves.

Here is a prayer of Socrates, as interpreted by Plato: "Beloved Pan, and all ye other gods who haunt this place, give me beauty in the inward soul; and may the outward and inward man be at one. May I reckon the wise to be the wealthy, and may I have such a quality of gold as a temperate man and he only can bear."

If you will read from the other philosophers and teachers mentioned, you will sense the same longing and heart urge for knowledge regarding that far beyond their own human frame. Even the savages have their sacred gods, and have since they were born. Our Indians had their "happy hunting grounds."

We demand someone to look up to. We see the magic works and creations of God all about us and so we look up to Him, the giver of light, hope and salvation. Our spirit mounts and wants the wings of an eagle so that it may get a closer glimpse of God. Without a religious urge in the world, born in the hearts of all human beings, we would be in a sad state, lonely and isolated.

Said the great Pasteur: "Blessed is he who carries within himself a God, an ideal, and who obeys it." The greatest figures in human history have been religious men and women. Their ever reaching spirit has forever exalted them, yet they have always remained humble and full of faith. It is to the faith of these men and women who kept reaching higher and higher in their aspiration, that we owe a debt of gratitude for the example they have bequeathed to us all.

This inward spiritual urge, or reaching spirit, is something that is inherent in all intelligent people. And because of this fact they translate it into living and undying deeds. How proud we should be that we have this within us, and that it can blossom and demonstrate itself at will!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Way Stations."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE WAITER'S VIEWPOINT
"What are the great and humble like?"
"You meet them both," The waiter smiled.
And said to me: "I daily see
The ways of woman, man and child.
The modest and the swollen head.
The hungry and the over-fed."

"I stand as they select their meals.
For as a waiter that's my task.
And some are crude and some are rude
And some demand and others ask.
And some are soft of speech and some
Have voices louder than a drum."

"To please them all my best I try.
I've only eyes and ears and hands.
Though care I take, mistakes I make.
But that a big man understands
And always patient he will be.
The little man will shout at me."

"The truly great are always fair.
The self-important always loud.
I've found it hard to well regard
A man, grown arrogantly proud.
The humble are the truly great."
I'd say of all on whom I wait

Landing Field Is Urged: Gettysburg should have a recognized landing field for army and civilian planes, Lieutenant John Weikert, army photographer, spending a two months' leave of absence at his home in McKnightstown, told the Gettysburg Lions club at its weekly luncheon meeting, held Monday evening at Cashtown.

I. L. Taylor, president of the club, declared that he believed that securing such a field for Gettysburg would constitute a worth while project for the Lions.

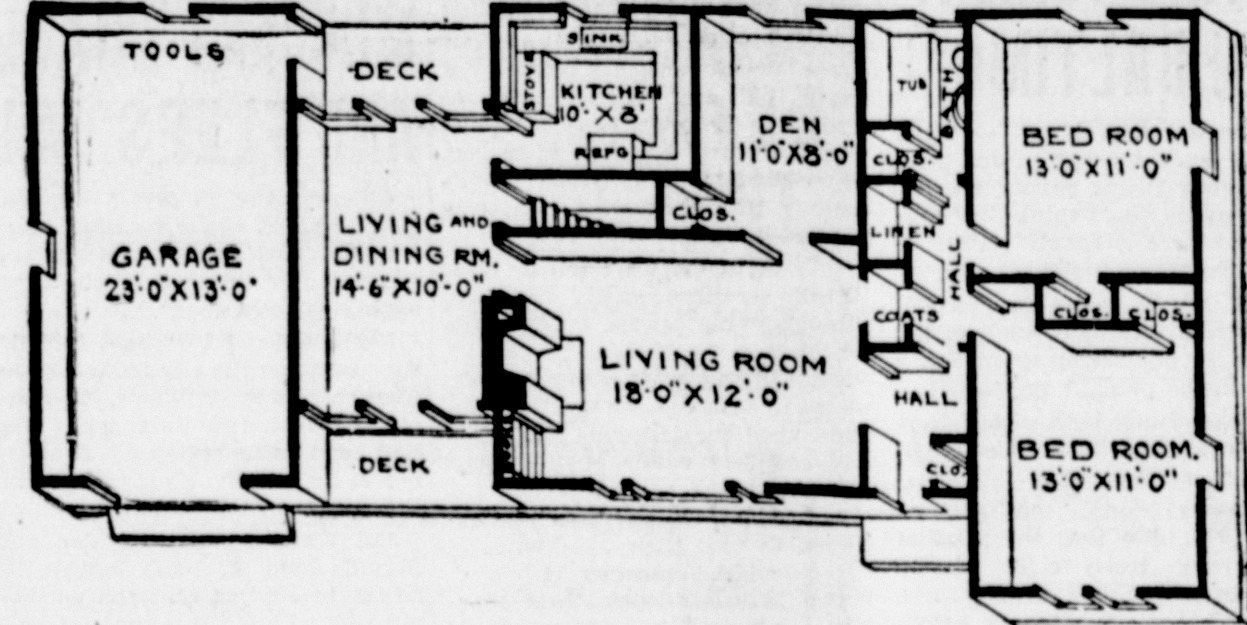

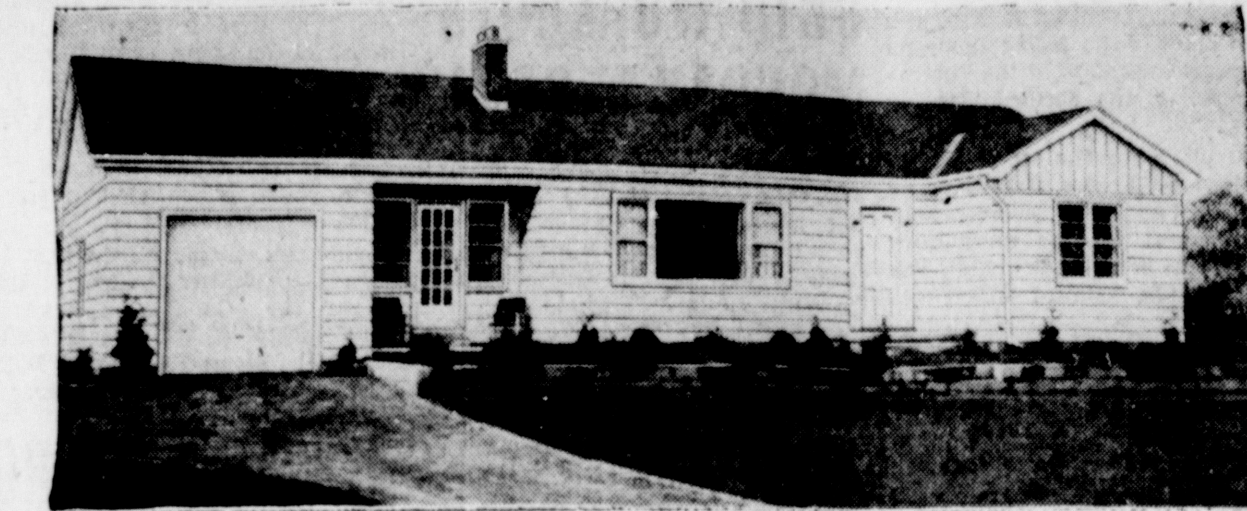

The meeting of the club next Monday evening will be held at the Quaker Valley Country club.

News Of Interest To Home Builders--

The Ashtabula: A Trim Ranch House Of Distinctive Design

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Two
Closets Seven
Cubage 25,500 ft.
Dimensions 59' x 24'

You'll need a sizable lot of land on which to build the Ashtabula for it measures 59 by 24 feet; at least a 70-foot lot would be required and a larger one will give a more attractive setting for this rambling ranch house.

Shingles Advised
Shingles or clapboard will make the most attractive exterior finish for this house. Use colorful roofing to add a touch of brightness to the exterior. Simple landscaping is best with a house of this type, although a small terrace, as used in the illustration, is very attractive.

The plain front entrance is in line with the architectural simplicity of the house. A handy clothes closet is located in the right wall of the entry hall. An open archway at the left leads into the spacious living room. The smaller arch at the end of the entry hall leads into the central hallway connecting with the bedrooms in the right wing of the house as well as with the bath and central closet area.

Located as they are along the left wall of the central hallway, this central closet area utilizes every available inch for valuable storage space.

To the right off the central hall are the bedrooms both of which measure 13 by 11 feet. With windows on two exposures, both these rooms reap the benefits of cross-ventilation and plenty of light.

Furniture arrangement should be no problem in the 18 by 12-foot living room although there are connecting doors or archways as preferred from the hall, the den and the living and dining room. These doorways are so placed that traffic does not pass through the center of the living room.

Reached through a door in the back wall of the living room, the den measures 11 by 8 feet. Well-lighted by a large window in the back wall and containing a good-sized closet, this room could serve as a third bedroom or double as a guest room.

Living-Dining Room
The living and dining room is meant to be just what its name implies. If you prefer to use it just as a dining room you can, of course, do just that. Measuring 14 feet 6 inches by 10 feet it is one of the most attractive rooms in the Ashtabula and one of the best-lighted. A French door, flanked by paneled windows, is located in the center of the front wall; there is another French door also flanked by paneled windows in the back wall.

Both these doors open out on porches or sun decks; the choice is up to you. Modern open planning is typified by rooms such as this which use plenty of window and door space to bring the outdoors inside, this adding to the feeling of spaciousness and also capitalizing upon the beauty of the surrounding landscape. Be sure to take advantage of this in placing your dining room set.

Stairs to the cellar also open off this room. A door in the right wall conceals them from view. Another door, just beyond the stairway, leads to the compact kitchen. Except for a small section of the front wall, counters and appliances line all the wall space in this 10 by 8-foot kitchen.

The refrigerator is centered in the front wall; cabinets extend from this along the right wall and back walls to the sink which is placed under a window. Another section of cabinets extend from the sink to the stove against the left wall. In a kitchen as small as this there is, of course, no room for a breakfast nook. However, there is a compensation in that it's very easy to prepare meals in so small an area as everything you need is but a few steps away.

Whether you decide upon a full or partial cellar for the Ashtabula, have the heating plant installed under the living room and the laundry under the kitchen. Be sure to provide direct access to the yard from the cellar so you won't have to go traipsing through the house every thing you want to go out in the yard from the basement.

Blueprints Available
Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost.
For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, The Gettysburg Times, Dept. 18, and enclose a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Storage Space Is Vital In House

There should be ample storage space in a home in order to adequately provide for the proper keeping of articles not in immediate use.

Bedroom or coat closets used chiefly for hanging space should be not less than one foot 10 inches in depth. Linen closets should be about 16 to 18 inches in depth.

While it is impossible to fix a rule for the amount of closet space that will be universally applicable, it is advisable to have at least one closet for each bedroom, a closet for linen, and one in which to hang hats and coats. Outer garments are sometimes damp; consequently, the coat closet should be near the entrance door so that water and mud are not spread through the dwelling.

INTERIOR STONE WALLS

Rustic interior walls of stone-like sheathing, ordinarily used on exteriors need little upkeep to retain their pleasant appearance. Used on one wall in combination with knotty pine, to cover a dull fireplace, in attic or basement recreation rooms, the finish looks like mortar-set field stones in soft, natural looking colors, says Practical Builder.

FAUCET HANDLE HAZARDS

The hazards of china faucet and valve handles are stressed by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. China handles are likely to break and cut the hand or arm of the user. The replacement of all china handles with metal handles is advocated by the Bureau.

GLASS SAVES FUEL

Purdue university's scientific house has tested heating by adding windows. Doubling the amount of glass is found to decrease the required degree-hours of heating nine percent.

ARCTIC PANTRIES POPULAR

The latest home utility rooms are being extended to include facilities for quick freezing and storage of fresh frozen foods. These Arctic pantries are becoming increasingly popular.

BATHTUB CRACK REPAIR

The crack sometimes left around the edge of the bathtub when the tub settles away from the plaster can be closed by filling the space with mineral wool, covering this with prepared cement, plastic wood or putty and painting to match the wall.

PROTECT PADLOCKS

Ice and frost can be kept out of padlocks on outbuildings by tacking a strip of rubber or metal over the lock. Padlocks that are frozen can be thawed out by inserting the key and then holding a lighted match to the key.

ALLOW DRYING TIME

Be sure that each coat of paint has an opportunity to dry thoroughly before another one is applied.

Use The Best For Finishing Floors

Would shellac or varnish be the better preparation to use on an oak kitchen floor? For years house-holders have been debating this shellac vs. varnish argument.

In finishing any floor, it is a mistake to use any but the highest quality materials. There is so much labor involved that the materials should have the greatest resistance to wear and scratching. Before any finish is applied, the bare wood floor should be clean and smooth, all fine dust being taken up by wiping with a clean cloth dampened with turpentine.

Varnish, shellac, wax or a combination of these may be used where the natural color of the floor is to be retained.

If varnish is chosen, it should be a floor varnish, which is harder and more resistant to wear than other varieties. Varnish should not be brushed crossways, nor should it be thick; coats should be as thin as will cover the wood. When the first coat is thoroughly hard, the second coat is applied. Three coats are advisable.

White or orange shellac is also satisfactory for floor finish and when pure or of high quality will stand hard wear.

Both varished and shellacked floors can be waxed to advantage, for the wax will take the dirt and wear and protect the finish beneath.

DAMP ATTIC

Sometimes when a roof has been very tightly built, sweating or condensation will appear on the under side of the roof in the attic. This is caused by the warm air from the house, which contains more or less moisture, rising and striking the cold under surface of the roof. The remedy is ventilation in the attic or the under side of the rafters may be covered with a heavy, waterproof paper or an insulating board.

CARE OF WROUGHT IRON
Those attractive porch banisters and porch railings, gates, garden furniture and accessories made of wrought iron are likely prey for rust. Take care of them by periodic cleaning and repainting or polishing, says Practical Builder. A woolen cloth dampened in sweet oil combined with considerable "elbow grease" will clean off most rust spots and grime. Polishing with a dry woolen cloth will give a satiny lustre, and prepared paints are available for added protection against the elements.

MATCH SHUTTERS
The use of shutters on the average American house is on the upgrade—but not for the same reasons that our great-grandparents used them. In early Colonial days, shutters were used as protection against attack and the weather. Today, however, their chief function is to add color and architectural beauty to the house. Color experts point out that shutter colors should be carefully selected. If the home owner is in doubt as to what color to paint them, he should match his roof color.

Plans were discussed for the third annual Kingsdale Fire company carnival to be held the week of August 20 at the monthly meeting of the company auxiliary Monday evening at the engine house. The ladies will conduct a bazaar table on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, August 23, 24 and 25. They also planned the menu for the ox roast suppers to be served on Friday and Saturday evenings. Full course suppers will be served family style, under shelter. Serving will begin on Friday at 6 p.m., and on Saturday at 4 p.m. Clayton Hargett and Claude Gerrick, members of the Fire company, were in attendance at the August meeting of the auxiliary, to help make final carnival arrangements. The affair will be held on the grounds in the rear of the engine house, two and one-half miles from Littlestown on the Taneytown road.

The August meeting of the auxiliary opened with group singing and was in charge of the president, Mrs. William Lippy. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. Joseph Selby. The business session closed with the group repeating the Lord's Prayer. The meeting was then in charge of the entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. Cletus Bair, Mrs. Mahlon Bucher and Mrs. Preston Crabbs. A social hour was enjoyed by the 28 members and five visitors in attendance. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Monday, September 10, at the engine house. TURNIPS FOR ROOTS AND GREENS

Turnips prefer cool weather. Therefore, they merit a prominent place in late gardening plans. For roots they should be seeded in this latitude from late June until mid-August. When grown for their excellent greens, turnips may be started as late as early September. The editor has grown fine turnip greens from sowings made the last week in September.

Because turnip plants are not injured by light frosts, they utilize garden space left idle where earlier vegetables have matured, thereby requiring little or no additional fertilizer. They thrive during the shortening warm days and cooling nights of early October to yield a hardy crop of roots to bury in a garden mound for all-winter family consumption.

The well liked Purple Top White Globe variety reaches edible size in 58 to 65 days after sowing seed. Early White Milan in 42 to 48 days, Shogoin in 35 to 40 days, Purple Top Milan in about 45 days. Of course tops from any of these varieties may be harvested for greens in two to three weeks after seeding.

Because heavy rains may flood plantings on level areas, it is usually wise to sow late turnips in rows or in slightly raised beds. If broadcasting is preferred, the bed may be 2 to 4 feet wide, surrounded by ditches to carry off surplus water. If row culture is practiced, two or three rows 14 to 18 inches wide may be grown on one raised ridge. Such drainage insurance keeps the leaves free from soil contamination when they are grown for greens, while roots develop faster where they are safe from standing water after heavy rains.

Turnip seeds are so small they are difficult to sow without crowding plants. The soil should be worked into a fine seed bed. In either row or broadcast culture it may be necessary to thin out numerous seedlings to afford plants adequate room. If these extra plants are retained until their leaves are fairly large, they may be used as greens. For root growth plants should stand about three inches apart in rows or broadcast.

If seed is raked into the soil care is necessary to avoid too deep covering. However, despite their smallness, turnip seeds may be covered one-fourth inch deep or slightly deeper, providing the soil is light and fine. Litter, such as rotted compost or grass clippings, strewn along the rows or over the broadcast area will help prevent surface crusts from interfering with germination.

No other vegetable is so easy to store for all-winter use or later marketing. After the roots mature in late fall they may be simply lifted, topped, and then piled in a conical heap on a layer of dry vegetation. Straw or hay over the heap will prevent the covering soil from filtering down among the roots. Cover later with enough soil to protect the roots from freezing.

Housewives who are compelled to buy shriveled, wilted turnips after long storage and exposure in grocery bins find home grown, fall-buried roots far superior in tenderness and flavor. Herein is one of the main reasons why burial is recommended instead of basement or cellar storage.

Rarely do insects bother late turnips, although aphids may attack the young plants, in which case prompt combat with Black Leaf 40 in soapy water is recommended. The spray should coat the lice liberally.

Insect damage to stored grain causes an annual loss of from 300 to 600 millions of bushels of grain each year, according to estimates by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

SHOULD JAPAN BE ALLOWED TO RE-ARM?

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Aug. 15 (AP)—Should Japan be allowed to re-arm? This country says yes. Russia says no.

There are many points of dispute between this country and Russia over the Japanese peace treaty proposed by the U. S. but the question of re-armament is the main one.

The treaty not only will let Japan re-arm but will allow the U. S. to keep military bases there indefinitely. The U. S. thinks that's the best policy for it to follow at this time.

Japan is the key point in this country's outer defenses in the Pacific. It faces armed China and armed Russia, both on the move, across a short stretch of water.

Policy Changed

An armed Japan, backed by American planes and ships, will discourage communism from venturing into the Pacific. No one will argue that communism doesn't want to take over Japan. And unarmed Japan would be easier to take.

If we withdrew and Japan was kept disarmed, it would be a push-over for direct attack. Even fear of attack might weaken its will to resist so that it could be taken over internally, without outside shooting.

Whatever happened to Japan—conquest from without or from within—the result for the U. S. would be the same: loss of an ally and its greatest Pacific outpost.

During the war, when Russia was an ally, and for some time after the war, while there was still hope of getting along with Russia, this country's stated policy was different: it wanted Japan kept disarmed.

Events brought changes. Communism grabbed the policy; communism grabbed up eastern Europe, took over Czechoslovakia from within; tried to take over Greece with guns. Then communism took over China, tried to take over Korea.

The last two events tipped the scales: the conquest of China meant Japan, if kept unarmed, would be helpless against its two enormous and armed neighbors, China and Russia; and the invasion of South Korea showed communism would try to win by force what it couldn't take by persuasion.

Russia accuses the U. S. of being hypocritical for this change in policy, playing down, of course, its own reasons for wanting to keep Japan unarmed. But in the case of Japan it seems hardly likely that Russia can block a peace treaty as it did in Germany and Austria.

Since the war those two countries not only have been occupied by troops of the Western powers but by Russian troops, too. The Western powers could not sign treaties with Germany and Austria, covering all of both countries, so long as Russia occupied any part of them. And so far Russia and the West have not been able to agree on treaties.

It's different in Japan. There the U. S. is sole occupying power. It can sign a treaty with Japan. If Russia doesn't want to go along, it can sign a separate treaty with Japan, later or never.

DEDICATE NEW BRIDGE TODAY

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 15 (AP)—Delaware and New Jersey joined today in dedicating a giant World War II memorial the first hand-to-hand link ever built between these two of the 13 original colonies.

The Delaware Memorial bridge, a $44,000,000 structure, is the world's sixth largest suspension span. It stretches 2,04 miles across the lower Delaware river and has a total length, including approaches, of three and one-half miles.

Two Congressional Medal of Honor winners were invited to join with Governors Elbert N. Carvel, of Delaware, and Alfred E. Driscoll, of New Jersey, in the dedication ceremonies.

They were James P. Connor, of Elsmere, Del., ex-infantry sergeant decorated for valor under fire in Italy, and Carlton Roub, of Lindenwood, N. J., who as a marine fighting on Pelelieu island in the Pacific, threw himself on an exploding Jap hand grenade to save his comrades. The two were selected to lay the wreaths of their states at the memorial plaque.

Today was set for public inspection of the bridge, with only scheduled bus tours and pedestrian travel permitted. Tolls-paying traffic—at 75 cents per car and 50 cents per axle for trucks and buses—was to begin moving across the structure from both ends at midnight tonight.

The bridge is an important new link in north-south travel along the Atlantic seaboard. Together with er Thursday, warmer Saturday and probably Sunday; average temperature normal to two degrees above normal.

BLOOD PROGRAM GIFFORD TOPIC

Dr. Roy W. Gifford, Gettysburg, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Littlestown Rotary club Tuesday evening at Schottie's hotel. Dr. Gifford, who was introduced by Dr. Donald B. Coover, spoke on the subject, "Blood and Blood Transfusions."

He told of the organization of the American Red Cross blood bank during World War II, and of its development since that time. The speaker stated that blood can be flown from the States to Korea in 48 hours and whole blood can be preserved two weeks before converting it into plasma. Dr. Coover then addressed the Rotarians on the blood donor campaign now being conducted and he urged giving to the Red Cross for this worthy cause. Three hundred pints of blood has been the quota set for Littlestown, and an appeal has been made throughout the community social organizations.

Nevah A. Crouse, chairman of the Community Service committee in charge of the Tuesday evening program, introduced Rotarian Donald Z. Mann, who played several cornet selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. Robert Sell. Plans were then discussed for a stag party in connection with the next meeting, Tuesday, August 21, at 6 p.m., at the A. W. Schott farm, near town. Games will be played and contests held in charge of the Fellowship and Attendance committee consisting of A. W. Schott, chairman; Mervin Harner, Roy D. Knouse and Richard A. Little, Sr. Two visiting Rotarians, Clarence W. Sparks of the Hampstead club and A. Irvin Hostetter of the Hanover club, were introduced by Mervin Harner. The Tuesday evening meeting was in charge of the Community Service committee headed by Nevah A. Crouse, chairman.

The graduating class of 1939 of the Littlestown high school will hold a reunion Sunday at Caledonia. In case of rain the affair will take place the following Sunday, August 26.

Party Day On Thursday
Playground Party Day will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock as a special event in conjunction with the Littlestown recreational program which closes at highway construction now under way or planned it will provide an entirely new route between the Baltimore-Washington area and New York city.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer from kidney backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for forty—helps the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

the end of this week. All boys and girls of the community, including children of pre-school age and the teen age group are invited. Mass games will be played and other activities are being arranged by the instructors, Mrs. Kay Crouse Sentz and Clayton L. Evans. Refreshments, including do-nuts contributed by Capitol Bakeries, Inc., and soft drinks will be served.

It is hoped that a large crowd will be on hand for the Party Day activities, which will be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in case of rain on Thursday. Approximately 50 boys and girls have been attending the daily playground sessions throughout the summer and it is hoped that they will attend on Thursday and Friday.

During the morning sessions for the younger children this week, they have learned to make chains of colored paper. The following girls have made garlands of crepe paper: Donna McSherry, Diane Redding, Bonnie Greene and Patricia Weaver. Mrs. Sentz also instructed the children in making masks out of paper bags. Group games were played and a new game was learned, kickball. Throughout the afternoon program the older boys and girls continued working on leather projects and woodcraft was featured, under the guidance of Mr. Evans.

Softball Schedule
In the Littlestown Softball league game between the Mystic Chain and the Eagles on Monday evening, the score was Mystic Chain 9, Eagles 8. This evening at 6:30 o'clock on the community playground, the Eagles will oppose Harry's, and on Thursday evening the Mystic Chain will oppose Redeemers.

In the Pen-Mar Baseball league a rained out game will be played this evening between Littlestown and Taneytown, at Taneytown. In the league Taneytown and Fairfield are tied for first place, Littlestown stands third and McSherrytown is in fourth place.

The Littlestown Junior-Senior high school band will not meet for rehearsal on Thursday evening, as announced by director, Paul A. Harner. The band members will furnish music for annual public picnic of St. John's Lutheran

Mother, Son Meet After Forty Years

Philadelphia, Aug. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Mary White, 64, of Mahanoy City, Pa., and her son, Michael Vercekas, 43, of Vancouver, British Columbia, are visiting relatives today—the first time the two have been together in 40 years.

They were reunited in Philadelphia yesterday at the home of one of Mrs. White's 14 children by a second marriage.

The last time mother and son saw each other was in their native Lithuania when Mrs. White left her three-year-old son with her parents and headed for America with her second husband. Vercekas' father died before he was born.

Over the years the two had kept writing to each other but since 1928 when the son went to Canada and became a lumberman there had never been enough money for a reunion.

They plan to visit other relatives in Reading and Mahanoy City.

MAKING PLANS FOR OPENING OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Paul E. King, supervising principal of the Littlestown joint school system, presented plans for the opening of school and for the 1951-1952 school term, in his monthly report at the August meeting of the executive board on Tuesday evening, in Mr. King's office in the high school building.

Plans have been made for all teachers of the jointure to meet on Friday, August 31, at 7:30 p.m.

School will open on Wednesday, September 5, at 8:35 a.m., and will close at 12 o'clock noon that day. A second meeting of the teachers will follow that afternoon. The school day schedule will be as follows: first bell, 8:25 a.m.; call to school, 8:35 a.m.; dismissal at noon, grade school, 11:35, and high school, 11:50. The afternoon schedule will begin at 12:30 p.m. with dismissal of grade school at 3:30 p.m., and high school at 3:35 p.m. Rural schools will begin at 8:30 a.m., and will arrange the sessions according to the bus schedule.

Teachers Assigned

In the grade school building two rooms will be available for each grade, one through six. Grades seven to twelve will meet in the high school building. Oak Grove will be the only school open in Union township, and all of Mt. Joy township in the Littlestown Jointure will be transported to Littlestown.

Part of Mt. Joy township now belongs to the Gettysburg Jointure. The personnel and their assignments have been listed as follows: Mrs. Naomi C. Schwartz and Mrs. Anna K. Lester, grade one; Mrs. Hildah D. Arter and Mrs. Gertrude Renner, grade two; Mrs. Esther R. Wolfe and Mrs. Miriam Stand, grade three; Mrs. Myrtle R. Manthey and Mrs. Dena Herring, grade four; Mrs. Sarah Staub and John H. Riley, grade five, and Mrs. Margaret Lohr and James L. Rhoades, grade six, of the grade school building; Mrs. Eva Sentz, grades three and five at Oak Grove in Germany township; Mrs. Geraldine Redding, grades three and five at Center school in Union township.

HOUSE PASSED TRUCK BILL TO BOOST WEIGHTS

Harrisburg, Aug. 15 (AP)—A long pull by Pennsylvania's trucking industry to win increased weight ceilings for commonly used trucks was about completed today.

The House last night passed by a 112-79 vote a bill to increase the weight limits of commercial vehicles from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds. It had previously cleared the Senate and now returns there for concurrence in minor amendments.

The vote crossed party lines after three hours of debate on one of the most controversial issues in recent years.

House passage of the measure culminates a long-standing fight by the state's trucking industry to win higher truck weight limits in the Keystone state. The move was bitterly opposed by railroads, some farm organizations, various labor groups and township and borough organizations.

Imposes New Fines

Opponents contend the additional truck weight limits will play havoc with state roads. Backers of the measure deny this contention.

The measure, in boosting various truck weight limits, also imposes sharp new fines for overloading. Instead of the present $50 fine the bill calls for a $100 fine with an additional $2 for each 100 pounds of overload.

Rep. Robert P. Kent (R-Crawford), opposing the bill, told the House during debate on the measure that "our roads can't take more weight."

However, Rep. Samuel Dennison (R-Jefferson), speaking in behalf of the bill, declared its provisions "would cause no additional hardship to state motorists or state highways."

Assemblyman H. Earl Pitzer, Aspers, voted for the bill. He also voted for the colored oleo bill on Monday.

TEXAS PARCHES IN SEVERE HEAT

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 15 (AP)—Texans wonder if 1951 will be remembered as the year of the big drought.

The smothering heat wave and fugitive rain clouds threaten lean harvests from the Gulf coast to the Panhandle. Seared pasture lands are sending lank cattle to an early market.

At least 30 are dead from effects of the blazing sun. No relief is in sight.

After wandering thundershowers brought brief respite to some sections over the week-end, the crop-killing temperatures soared again yesterday. College Station had 106 degrees. Fort Worth 105, Tyler, Presidio and Dallas 104, Junction, Waco and Austin 103, Victoria, San Antonio and Cotulla 102.

Suffering humans, livestock and crops got little escape from the heat during the sleeping hours.

Slight breezes of eight to 10 miles per hour only stirred up the deep layer of hot air. Central Texas has never had such a damaging drought, farmers and dairymen report. Few of them remember 1887, known as "the" big drought year in Texas, but most recall the 1918 drought and the dust bowl days of 1934 and 1935.

Baumgardner in the high school, and Mrs. Harvey B. Simons, grade school.

Bus Routes Ready Soon

Announcement of the bus schedules and routes will be announced within the next ten days. The estimated enrollment for the school is: Grade one, 67 pupils; two, 65; three, 84; four, 77; five, 85; six, 53; seven, 67; eight, 83; nine, 75; ten, 80; eleven, 63; twelve, 55; a total of 854 pupils.

Register Beginners

Friday, August 24, will be the last day for registration for the preschool beginners for the fall term. All children of the jointure who will be six on or before February 1, 1952, and have not already been registered, should go to the grade school building on August 24, accompanied by a parent or guardian and should have with them a birth and vaccination certificate. The hours of registration will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3 p.m. Plans have also been made for a football training camp beginning August 26 and continuing through September 3. The trainees will stay at the school during this entire time and will eat in the cafeteria. Mr. Evans, Mr. Ditlow and Mr. Gall will constitute the training staff.

Present at the executive meeting were Luther W. Ritter, president, who presided, George Worley, Elmer E. Furlow, Preston Crabbs, John Schwartz, David S. Little, Wilbur E. Mackley, Paul E. King, principal, and Henry E. Waltham, secretary, also were in attendance. The treasurer's report was presented by George S. Worley. July receipts totaled $10,751.54. July expenditures included $6,752 for general control; $8,822.02 cost of instruction; $1,391.11, auxiliary agencies; $219.50, coordinate activities; $406.33, operation of plants; $37.05, for maintenance of plants and $77. fixed charges. The next meeting of the executive board will be held Tuesday, September 11, in the office of the supervising principal.

HEARST LEAVES HUGE ESTATE TO HIS WIDOW

San Francisco, Aug. 15 (AP)—The body of William Randolph Hearst, accompanied by his four sons, was flown to San Francisco from Beverly Hills, where the famous newspaperman died yesterday after a series of strokes. He was 88.

Funeral arrangements were awaiting the arrival from New York of his widow, Mrs. Millicent V. Hearst, who is accompanied by a fifth son, John. Burial will take place in Cypress Lawn cemetery, where the publisher's father, U. S. Senator George Hearst, and his mother, Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, were buried.

Four of Hearst's sons were at his bedside when he died. They are William Randolph, Jr., George, David and Randolph. Also present were Martin F. Huberth, chairman of the board of the Hearst corporation, and Richard E. Berlin, president of the Hearst corporation.

Cash for Widow

Hearst's 57-page typewritten will already has been filed for probate in Los Angeles. His widow was left $1,500,000 in cash and the income from a $6,000,000 trust fund. Former screen actress Marion Davies, in a codicil dated August 15, 1947, was bequeathed the publisher's Beverly Hills home but a codicil, dated September 8, 1948, revoked the bequest without explanation. His will directs that the estate be divided into two trust funds—one for the family and the other the residuary or charitable trust. Executors of the estate, the will directs, are not to part with ownership of any of the Hearst publications "unless it shall, in their opinion, be necessary or prudent to do so x x x." His five sons are to get enough preferred stock to realize an annual income of $150,000 to be added to 100 shares of common stock in the Hearst corporation.

Veteran Publisher

Dr. Myron Prinzmetal said death was caused by "several cerebral vascular accidents." He said Hearst had "enjoyed robust health until approximately four years ago when he became subject to the ailments of advanced age."

He passed away at 9:50 a.m. yesterday.

His death closed a career of 65 years as a newspaper publisher. His spectacular career began when he took control of the San Francisco Examiner in 1886. It was then a small newspaper.

It was from this start that he built a newspaper chain that at its peak represented a $200,000,000 enterprise.

The extent of Hearst's vast estate today was not disclosed in his will but it may be learned at a probate hearing set for August 27.

Who will continue to direct the huge publishing empire still is not completely answered.

Derby Winner Is Seeing The Town

New York, Aug. 15 (AP)—Soapbox derby winner Darwin Cooper, nursing a blistered heel from "seeing the town," will be able to rest his feet for a while today when he watches the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Giants play at the Polo Grounds.

The 15-year-old boy from Danville, Pa., is scheduled to meet the players and receive an autographed baseball.

Young Cooper, who won the derby at Akron on Sunday, arrived in New York Monday for a four-day visit.

He was sponsored by the Sun-Gazette of Williamsport, Pa. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, accompanied him here for his stay at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Also in the party are Paul Shebest, classified advertising manager of the Sun-Gazette, and Mrs. Shebest.
